4th At Wrangell Celebration Grand Success Day Ideal for Races and Sports

The celebration last Tuesday is considered one of the best ever pulled off in Wrangell. It began with the coming of the Kake Band at 4 o'clock in the morning. The entire programme of events was carried through and a few contests added by way of good measure.

At 10 o'clock the parade, headed by the band marched the length of Front Street. It was composed of the local company of Boy Scouts, Alert Fire Company, several grotesque characters and a dog team drawing a cage that contained The Only Ringalose in Captivity.

The exercises at the Red Men's hall were of the kind that make you pleased to be present. The speech of J. W. Arctander was very instructive. His theory as to the proper celebration of our Independence, may be new to most of his hearers but its good qualities are undeniable and they were well stated. His presentation of Alaska's position and the remedy suggested for the correction of existing evil customs, proved that his heart was the author of his words.

The athletic games were hotly contested. Much interest was shown in the Firemen's Hose-cart race. The 1st team won by one second over the 2nd. The time of the winners was forty-two seconds.

Fred Lewis took more prize money than any other contestant. In the Tug of War, seven men from the cannery were outpulled by the town team.

There were many entries and some surprises in the Gasoline Launch races. The Arrow which came in first was fixed up on the afternoon of the 3d by Fred Lewis and George Klapitz. She was entered in the 5-H. P. class but left all others behind. The Arrow is an original model and is generally supposed to be a cross between a sein-skiff and a hydroplane. At high speed she also shows submarine tendencies. The Lousie, owned by James Bradley took first money in her class. The Irene Barnes was entered under a fifteen minute handicap and failed to make up the lead given the smaller boats.

The Kake Brass Band Association pleased the music lovers who were in attendance at the celebration, with many popular and timely selections.

The days celebration was ended by a grand ball given by the Band boys and everyone present seemed to be pleased with the programme and Wrangell's reputation as a celebrator is secure.

Big Recital at Red Men's Hall

The Concert Tour Co., of San Francisco, will present Miss Morris Hiller, violinist and Miss Grace Lindsay, soprano, at Red Men's Hall, Thursday evening, July 6.

These two musicians have lately finished a course of music at the Boston Conservatory of Music and are making their debut in cities of Alaska. They recently played in Prince Rupert and the Empress says: "It was quite a triumph for the young artists. The audience had been led to expect something good and their expectations were more than filled."

This recital should appeal to the music lovers of Wrangell as it may be a long time before a performance of its kind will visit this city again.

Tickets on sale now at Wheeler's Drug Store.

Bishop Rowe In Wrangell

Bishop Rowe arrived last night on the Jefferson and will hold special services at St Phillip's church Friday evening at 8 P. M.

Sunday morning 10:30 the Bishop will preach and hold Holy communion and in the evening at 7:30.

Saturday evening at 8 P. M. there will be a reception to the Bishop at the Gymnasium. All are cordially invited.

Birthday Party

About thirty of Wrangell's young people gathered at the home of Miss Anna Lewis, last Friday evening, in honor of her sixteenth birthday.

The evening was enjoyably spent in playing games and several of the talented people present gave pleasing vocal selection.

At midnight the guests were tendered a bounteous supper, after which they departed, leaving several remembrances as tokens of the esteem in which she is held and wishing Miss Anna many happy anniversaries in the future.

Spokane Disaster Excursion Steamer Wrecked On Rocks at Seymour Narrows

Last Friday evening at 11 o'clock, while steaming through Seymour Narrows, the excursion steamer Spokane struck a rock tearing a forty-foot hole in her double bottom. The steamer was held to her course for nearly two miles and beached in Plumper bay. Immediately after striking the rock she began to fill rapidly and it was due to the heroic work of the engineers that the ship did not sink with heavy loss of life before she could be safely beached.

The Spokane had a passenger list of about eighty, mostly eastern people. Only two lives were lost, one from drowning and one believed to have been caused by heart failure.

The passengers were picked up by the Admiral Sampson and taken back to Seattle.

The Spokane was the first command of Capt. Guptill. Her run will be taken by the Queen which sails from Seattle Friday, the 7th.

Williams - Hooker

Last Tuesday afternoon Mr. William Hooker and Miss Lizzie Williams were quietly married at the home of Judge Thomas.

Mr. Hooker is one of Wrangell's popular young natives. Miss Williams recently returned from a trip up the Stikine river.

One of the saddest tragedies in the history of Southern Youkon occurred about 5 o'clock Saturday evening, June 17, when William Keely Fitzgerald fell into the raging waters of Miles Canyon and was borne rapidly away in the rushing torrent. The body has not been recovered. While the victim of mad waters was seen by Constable St. Lawrence to fall into the canyon and immediately sink from view, the matter is surrounded by mystery, deep and unfathomable, and it will probably never be known whether or not the unfortunate man was really himself at the time he lost his life.—White-horse Star.

Gold Robber Says Guilty

Elmer Smith, Robber of the Gold from Steamer Humboldt Pleads Guilty

San Francisco, June 16.—Elmer Smith, long suspected of being the ringleader of the gold robbery aboard the steamer Humboldt last fall, plead guilty this afternoon on a charge of grand larceny. When arrested he had $10,000 worth of gold filings in his possession. Margaret Smith, the prisoner's wife, J. B. Woodson, and his brother, held as accessories in the same robbery were dismissed for lack of evidence.—Valdez Miner.

M. of green spruce saw timber, log scale, more or less. No bid of less than one ($1.00) dollar per thousand and feet B. M. will be considered and a deposit of $200.00 must be sent to W. A. Liquor Peddler Caught

Last Saturday, Ed Evens was examined in Commissioner's Court and held over for the Grand Jury to answer a charge of selling liquor to natives.

Evens had been living in a tent at the head of the bay for several days and it was there that the local officials expected to catch him last Friday night but Evens heard them coming and took to the hills. The officers gave chase but owing to the heavy rain that was falling, they were unable to follow him in the darkness. After a short and wet chase through the bushes, the officers saw the uselessness of further sprinting and resorted to strategy. A deputy was left in the tent and the officers walked along the beach toward town, talking loud enough so that Evens in the bushes, could hear them. After a short wait, Evens, who was as well soaked with rain as the officers who had been following him, started to enter his tent, presumably for a change of clothes, and was seized by the waiting deputy. Evens was too badly scared to make any resistance and was safely landed in jail.

Ed Evens will be remembered as an old offender; having escaped from the officers at Petersburg several years ago. He had been released from jail at Ketchikan only five days before his arrest here.

Take no chances—no matter what the cause of the wound, cut, burn, or running sore, remember that Nyal's Salve always heals by first intention—it will not leave a scar.

NYAL'S SALVE

Rev. Corser has had the history of the most important Totems printed and has consented to let us publish a few of them as it will be of interest to most of our readers.

Kad-a-shan Totems

These totems are perhaps 90 years old.

The one at the right is surmounted by the creator.

Below is the raven man which created man out of the leaves of the trees.

Below is La-ki-gi-na the Indian devil.

The lowest is the thunder bird, the giver of rain.

The totem at the left is copied from an old Hydah walking stick. At the top is the Eagle, which at the Nass river was fed by a youth, who was afterwards abandoned by his uncle.

The Eagle then fed the boy and saved the whole tribe from starvation.

Below is the Ko-na-ka-det, the totem of the father's family.

Below is the crane, who had the magic shoes and with them could out run the fastest game.

Still below is the Konakedet.

Totem of the One-Legged

Fisherman of Yac-a-tat

He was killed by Kayak who stole his salmon spear.

He is represented as a large bird with a bear skin coat carrying a string of fish.

The face on his breast indicates the spiritual nature of the bird.

The Dog Fish Totem

At the top is a slave carrying a child's hat.

Below is the dog fish, the strongest of all fish for its size.

Below is the bear which saved the people at the time of the flood.

The Beaver Totem

Surmounted by the Beaver which was kept as a pet by a Kilisnu chief.

He got angry at the village, and having undermined it, Sampson like pulled out the foundation, and it fell.

Below is Kayak snarling a monster with the snaw of a bird.

Below is Ductoot rending the sea lions and other characters connected with the legend.

The Kicksetti Totem

Perhaps a thousand years ago, there was a migration of Thlinget Indian tribes from the mouth of the Nass river northward. The first of the clans to migrate were the Kicksetti. They went up the Stikine river. The canon at the head of navigation is represented by the face at the top of the pole.

While living there, a young man did some mischief to a frog, at which he fell into a trance. Coming out of the trance he declared that he had been in the kingdom of the frogs, and that he was there taught to treat them better because they were his brothers. So the frog was made the coat-of-arms.

Below is the old raven, the creator, talking to the young raven that made man.

The lowest figure is that of the beaver, the father's family and in its mouth is the frog, the totem of the mother.

This totem is about 18 years old.

The Totem of Ka-ha-la-sa

Here we see Ductut the Indian Hercules, who gained strength enough by bathing in cold sea water to tend the sea lions.
